++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be cloudy and drizzly at first in northeastern parts of the UK, but brighter, fresher conditions across Scotland and Northern Ireland will gradually follow and spread southwards. Elsewhere, it will be largely dry with isolated showers in the south, some heavy and thundery, but generally less frequent than today's.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

It will be fine with sunny spells for many as we head into the new week. However, cloud will increase from the northwest on Monday with outbreaks of rain reaching parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland. It will feel fresher and be quite chilly at night.
