

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Wednesday 06 Sep 2017

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Today there will be sunny spells for most, and it will stay dry across the south. In the north it will be breezy with a few scattered showers, especially across Scotland where skies are cloudier and showers are more frequent. Tonight will stay dry for many, but in the far northwest, outbreaks of rain will arrive by morning.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Thursday will see blustery rain in the north spreading southeastwards across the UK through the day, turning heavy at times. This will clear on Friday, with heavy and thundery showers following, and it will be staying windy with a risk of gales.

(C) Crown Copyright 2017. Published by the Met Office.