Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Many parts of England and Wales will have a mainly dry morning with sunny spells and showers in the far west. Scattered showers will develop more widely during the day, becoming locally heavy, especially during the afternoon. Showers will become prolonged in southern Scotland and northern England, but generally drier in northern Scotland and central Scotland, and Northern Ireland later.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

It will turn fresher on Friday with sunshine and just a scattering of showers, as a band of rain clears the southeast during the morning. Dry in eastern areas on Saturday, but heavy rain will quickly spread to all parts.
