++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will be windy this morning with gales possible over eastern England. Winds will ease during the day, with rain in northern England, southern Scotland, Northern Ireland and north Wales also clearing. It will be sunny elsewhere, with only a few isolated showers. Further potentially heavy rain is expected to arrive overnight, with winds increasing again.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Rain will affect parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland on Wednesday, with other areas seeing sunny periods and locally heavy showers. There will be further showers or longer periods of rain on Thursday, interspersed with some drier, brighter periods. It will stay windy throughout.
