++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Outbreaks of rain across northeast Scotland clearing during the morning, but not Shetland until afternoon. Otherwise, all areas will have sunshine and blustery showers, some of these rather heavy, especially over hills in the north and west. Feeling rather cool at times in brisk southwesterly winds.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Heavy rain and strong winds will spread northeastwards early on Wednesday, clearing away to leave a windy afternoon with sunshine and just a few showers. A chilly night Wednesday night, then more rain, perhaps prolonged and heavy will spread eastwards to all areas on Thursday. It will feel rather cool at times.
