Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Outbreaks of rain and hill snow will clear slowly eastwards through the morning on Wednesday, but are likely to linger in some east coast areas, such as East Anglia. Drier and brighter conditions will follow for many, but with the odd shower possible in the southwest, where it will also turn breezy.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

There will be bright spells on Thursday, but with some overnight fog lingering for much of the day. Persistent is likely again fog for some eastern parts on Friday. It will be a cloudier day for most parts, with rain and strong winds arriving in the west later.
