Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
More rain is expected over Northern Ireland , southern Scotland and northwest England on Wednesday, but elsewhere it will be largely dry with some brightness and perhaps some sunshine in places. There is just the risk of the odd isolated shower here and there.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

A band of locally heavy rain will be pushing eastwards across the UK during the morning and it will be windy too. Brighter conditions and showers will be following in from the west. A drier day on Friday for many with bright or sunny spells. Risk of showery rain in the far east however.
