

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 25 Jun 2014

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will remain largely dry and fine across many parts with sunny spells. The drizzly outbreaks across southwestern Scotland, Northern Ireland and Cumbria will ease during the morning. However, a band of occasionally heavy rain will push northeast across southwestern parts through the day, reaching the Midlands and southeast by late evening.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

A more unsettled picture through Friday and Saturday across central and southern parts with heavy showers or bands of more prolonged rain, and the risk of thundery downpours. The best of the drier and brighter conditions will be in the north, but with some chilly nights here.

(C) Crown Copyright 2014. Published by the Met Office.