Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a mild and largely cloudy day with some persistent rain in the west and northwest, and drizzle across the south. Although, there will be some brighter interludes in the east, and far northwest later. It will be windy with a risk of gales in the northwest, and breezy in the south.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

A band of rain will affect England and Wales on Friday, steadily clearing away to the southeast by early Saturday. Brighter conditions follow behind the rain, although there will be some occasional showers too, these heavy in the northwest. Remaining windy, with gales in the north.
