Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Light rain will persist across western Scotland through the day. Elsewhere will be dry with broken cloud. The best of the sunshine being across the southern half of England and Wales after early fog patches clear. Another pleasantly warm day for most areas.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Sunday outbreaks of light rain and low cloud across the far northwest of Scotland will spread steadily southeast petering out as it does so. Elsewhere dry with a good deal of sunshine once early mist and patchy fog clears. More cloud around on Monday and could give the odd light shower, but most parts fine and dry.
