

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 12 Jul 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Scattered showers are expected to develop across Scotland and Northern Ireland through the course of the day, with more persistent rain spreading slowly northeast across England and Wales. Rain may turn quite heavy for a time across Wales and northwest England, but eastern parts of England should only have occasional light rain. Feeling fresh, with temperatures remaining nearer normal.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Occasional light rain is expected across Scotland throughout. Scattered, heavy showers are likely elsewhere on Thursday, with drier and brighter spells in between, followed by a drier day on Friday. Winds quite brisk at times, and temperatures staying near normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.