

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Saturday 28 May 2016

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Any fog patches will clear to leave a largely fine day across the United Kingdom. Despite this, locally heavy and thundery showers will develop across parts of Northern Ireland and Western Scotland and possibly in the far southeast later. It will be a warm day in the sunshine, although noticeably cooler along the east coast.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Whilst most areas will stay dry into Monday, winds will strengthen as rain pushes in from the east to affect many eastern areas later in the day. Tuesday looks set to turn unsettled across the country with heavy rain in places and winds remaining strong.

(C) Crown Copyright 2016. Published by the Met Office.