Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A cloudy and wet day across the UK, with western high ground seeing the heaviest and most persistent rain, and Scottish mountains experiencing some snow. Southern England and Wales will be windy, with gale-force gusts along English Channel coasts. Later, in northwestern areas the rain will turn more showery with some drier and brighter spells as well.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Generally unsettled, with most places experiencing a mixture of sunny spells and showers, some of which may be heavy with hail and thunder. Staying rather breezy in many areas, with daytime temperatures near normal but chilly at night, leading to rural ground frost.
