Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Most parts will start dry with bright or sunny spells, but showers will develop over northern Britain through the day and some of these will be heavy and thundery. Southern areas will see showers extending northwards during the afternoon and evening to affect many areas and there will be a risk of torrential downpours across southeast England.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Heavy rain will move north to affect northern England and Scotland on Sunday with sunny spells and heavy, thundery showers elsewhere. It will remain unsettled on Monday with further sunny spells and showers and some of these showers will be heavy and thundery.
