

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 05 Apr 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Most of Scotland except the far north will have heavy rain lasting until evening, and Northern Ireland will have spells of rain for much of the day. Wales and England will be dry at first, but will have rain in western parts by afternoon. Elsewhere will be mostly sunny, with brisk southwesterly winds easing.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will see spells of rain lingering in central and eastern areas. Scotland, Wales and western England will have a mainly fine day with some showers on western hills. Thursday will have showers in the north but be dry elsewhere.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.