

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 01 Jul 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A bright start with sunny spells for most places. Patchy cloud will develop, especially inland, although most places will continue to see warm spells of sunshine. It will remain mostly dry through the day, although an isolated light shower can't be ruled out. The best of the sunshine will be towards the coasts, where a sea breeze may develop.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Staying fine and settled for most parts of the country with long spells of sunshine. Cloudier at times towards the far northwest with a threat of patchy rain. Becoming increasingly warm, especially in central and southern Britain with generally light winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.