++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It'll be a warm and dry day with sunny spells. However, there could be the odd light shower in some western parts during the afternoon, and in eastern coastal counties it will be a cooler day. It'll be dry tonight, but feeling rather chilly in western areas under clear skies.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will be a cooler and cloudier day for many, particularly towards the east. Some light rain is possible at times through the day for many of us, with some more persistent rain moving into parts of north-east England during the evening.
