Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Monday will start dry, with mostly clear skies, although cloudier conditions are expected around some eastern coasts and parts of the south and west. Conditions will be generally dry, sunny and warm; although throughout the day, isolated showers, perhaps heavy, are expected, mainly in the west.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

On Tuesday, the generally warm conditions continue, although with further scattered showers, these again more prevalent in the west. These showers may be heavy, with a risk of thunder and hail. Wednesday looks set to be slightly cloudier and cooler than recent days, and also with scattered light showers possible at times.
