Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy rain in northern England and southern Scotland clearing northeastwards by lunchtime and remaining dry thereafter. Occasional light rain for many elsewhere that may become heavy over western mountains and in northern Scotland. The far south of England and Northern Ireland have the best chance of staying dry. Very windy for many and feeling mild.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Friday beginning dry in many northern parts, with light rain elsewhere. Heavy rain will move across all but northern Scotland during the day and remain well into the night. Becoming brighter and colder from the north on Saturday with showers in northern and western areas.
