

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 23 Aug 2013

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Further spells of rain will continue in the east through Saturday, heavy and thundery at times bringing the risk of localised flooding. However, it will be drier in the west with variable amounts of cloud and some bright or sunny spells developing. It will feel cooler than today underneath the cloud and rain in the east.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

A drier and brighter day on Sunday with some sunny spells, but the risk of a few showers in the southeast. A mostly dry day on Monday with variable amounts of cloud and some sunny spells. However, patchy rain will affect northwestern areas.

(C) Crown Copyright 2013. Published by the Met Office.