Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be another unsettled day for many, with sunny spells and scattered showers. Some of the showers will turn heavy with a risk of thunder. Slow-moving heavy showers are likely across northwestern parts of UK, leading to a risk of temporary surface water in places. Elsewhere, showers are likely to move through quickly due to a strong southerly winds.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Remaining unsettled and rather cool through Friday and Saturday, with sunny spells and scattered showers. Some of the showers are likely to be heavy once again with a risk of hail and thunder, particularly over northern parts of the UK.
