Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
England and Wales will have very warm sunny spells again tomorrow. Most places will stay dry but there will be a few sharp showers across eastern England. Persistent rain will affect central and southern Scotland as well as Northern Ireland. Brighter, showery and fresher weather is likely across northern Scotland.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

The first half of next week will become cooler and more unsettled, with showers or longer spells of rain for many, mixed with drier and brighter periods. Heavy rain is likely for a time in the south of England on Tuesday.
