Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Breezy with showers or outbreaks of rain continuing over Northern Ireland and western parts of Scotland, some of them becoming heavy for a time in the afternoon. The rest of the UK should be mainly dry with sunny intervals, although cloud may become fairly extensive at times.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Rain spreading from the northwest to affect most parts of the UK on Sunday, although southeast England may remain dry. Staying windy in northern areas. Monday should be dry with sunny spells for most, although occasional showers are likely to continue in northern and western parts of the UK.
