Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloud and rain will affect the southern half of the UK tomorrow, which may be heavy at times during the morning. Colder further north with light winds and early fog and frost over Scotland and Northern Ireland, but dry with sunny spells developing during the day.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Cloud and spells of rain will affect most of the UK during Friday, though some brighter and drier intervals are possible across the Midlands. A frosty start in the west on Saturday as the cloud and rain slowly clears eastwards during the night and into Saturday morning, turning much drier and brighter behind.
