++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a cloudy start for many western parts of the UK, but largely fine elsewhere. The best of any bright or sunny spells will be confined to the east. Meanwhile, cloud and outbreaks of rain will be spreading into parts of Northern Ireland and western parts of Scotland, with freshening south-westrely winds.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Staying unsettled, with further showers or spells of rain affecting northern and western parts of the UK during Thursday and Friday. Meanwhile, much of England and Wales should remain mostly fine and dry, with sunny spells. It will feel warm and humid in the south.
