

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 09 Aug 2017

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a rather chilly start with some isolated mist and fog patches quickly clearing to leave a largely dry day with some decent sunny spells and light winds. Some lingering rain may be slow to clear in the southeast, before high cloud moves in from the west. Feeling warm in any sunshine.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Friday will see outbreaks of rain and strengthening winds arrive from the west where the rain will turn persistent and heavy. This will soon clear eastwards by Saturday to leave a largely dry and bright day for all with warm sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2017. Published by the Met Office.