++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Northern and western Scotland will remain mostly cloudy and misty with outbreaks of rain or drizzle at times. Elsewhere, it should be mostly dry with bright or sunny intervals developing after a grey, foggy start in places. It will be mild or very mild, especially where it brightens in the south and east.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Patchy rain will clear southwards Friday night and on Saturday. Thereafter, all areas will be dry with clear spells overnight and some sunshine by day. It will be cooler than recently with the risk of a frost and some patchy fog night and morning.
