Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Any mist and low cloud should clear and burn back to eastern coasts during tomorrow morning. This will allow a bright day for many, with plenty of warm sunny spells. The heat of the afternoon may trigger a few sharp showers across western parts of the UK, but most places will remain dry.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

It will remain warm and humid through Monday and Tuesday, but it is likely to become more unsettled with scattered showers. Some the showers could become heavy at times with thunder, especially so on Tuesday. However, in between there will be plenty of sunny spells.
