Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain and drizzle across the south of the UK will gradually ease through tomorrow, with some warm bright spells developing in places during the afternoon. Meanwhile, many northern parts will be dry and fine away from rain in the far west.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Staying unsettled across the northern half of the country through Wednesday and Thursday, with sunshine and showers turning heavy and thundery at times. However, further south there will be plenty of fine and dry weather, with just the isolated shower possible through the afternoons. Turning breezier for a time on Wednesday too, before easing on Thursday.
