Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Overnight mist and fog could be slow to clear from parts of England and Wales. A dry, bright day is expected for most places thereafter, with light winds, sunny spells and very isolated showers. A cloudier day is expected across Scotland though, with further outbreaks of rain and drizzle.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

Sunday will be mostly cloudy in the north with patchy light rain, but dry with some prolonged sunshine in the south. Monday should be dry for all, with plenty of bright or sunny weather. A brisk easterly wind will develop, making it feel cold. Nights will be chilly with patchy fog.
