Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Much of England, Wales and Northern Ireland will have a day of sunny spells and only isolated showers, with many places remaining dry. However thickening cloud will spread rain into southwestern England and later also South Wales. Scotland will have a day of sunny intervals and scattered showers, a few of which will become heavy.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

The weekend will be unsettled with either showers or more persistent rain at times. Some locally very heavy and thundery bursts are likely and it will also be windy at times in southern areas. There will however also be at least a few sunny intervals.
