

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 04 Jun 2014

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain in the north will steadily become confined Scotland, where it will be persistent and heavy at times in the east. Elsewhere in the UK it will be largely dry and bright with sunny spells and an isolated shower possible, mainly in the afternoon. It will feel pleasantly warm in the sunshine.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Generally dry and bright with sunny spells and an isolated shower on Friday, but cloud will increase from the southwest later, with some rain possible. Rain in the southwest will gradually move north-eastwards through the day, with the risk of some localised heavy, thundery downpours at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2014. Published by the Met Office.