Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A day of sunny spells and scattered showers for most of the UK. The showers will be most frequent in the north and west, some of which could be heavy with a risk of thunder. There will be rain at first in southeast England, but this should clear by lunch time.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Further showers are expected on Monday, but less widespread than on Sunday, the heaviest in the west with a risk of thunder once more. Rain is possible for a time overnight and into Tuesday. This will gradually clear to the east with sunny spells and isolated showers following.
