

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 08 Mar 2013

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain across central parts of the UK, will turn increasingly to sleet or snow as it edges slowly southwards. Snow mainly on hills, but the risk of some accumulations to low levels into the afternoon and evening. Very cold in the north, but still fairly mild in the south.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Sleet and snow will continue to head southwards on Sunday, with some accumulations in the south Sunday evening and overnight into Monday morning. A good deal of cloud on Monday, but some brightness at times. Occasional snow showers, mainly towards the north and east. Feeling bitterly cold in the wind.

(C) Crown Copyright 2013. Published by the Met Office.