

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Saturday 28 Jul 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Breezy with sunshine and occasional heavy showers across the north and west of the UK. In the south, mostly dry with sunny spells and isolated showers, and feeling fresher than of late. Showers will continue in the north and west overnight, whilst it should become largely fine and dry for southern and eastern England.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

Sunshine and heavy showers for most on Sunday, these most frequent in the northwest and, for a time, across southern England and the Midlands with a risk of thunder. By Monday, scattered showers continue in the north, but remaining mostly dry and fine in the south.
