Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Many areas will have a cold, dry start with a frost in places, although there will be some showers, these mainly in western areas. The showers will become more widespread and heavier during the day with a chance of hail and thunder by afternoon. There will be some sunny periods though, the best of these in the morning.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

The unsettled weather will continue into Thursday and Friday, with sunshine and showers expected on both days. Again, some of the showers will be heavy and thundery and there may be some wintry showers in the north of the UK.
