

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 08 Jun 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A mainly dry, bright and warm day for southern England and Wales with sunny spells, although a few showers developing in places through the afternoon. Elsewhere it will remain mainly cloudy with showers for many places, although some bright or sunny spells will develop for some, the best of these across Scotland.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Continuing unsettled with persistent rain for many southern parts on Sunday. Further showers are expected across the north, although some brighter spells are possible here. A mixture of sunshine and showers on Monday, showers turning heavy and thundery, particularly across England and Wales. Feeling rather cool.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.